Working time: 1 hour 30 Minutes

The perfect decoration for your kitchen! These boards were first designed with casting resin and then decorated. Wooden burning

Using a pencil, draw out the outlines from of the honey running down the border and the flowing milk. The edges are then pressed in slightly with an embossing pencil so that the casting resin does not run too much later. Mix the cold glaze according to the instructions and add a few drops of the tinting paint. Stir the mixture well

Apply the cold glaze to the desired areas with a wooden spatula. A bamboo skewer is suitable for fine or tapered areas. For the honey, apply a first layer, then add a little more colour to the mixture to make it darker. This you can still apply on the first layer. Uneven areas or small bubbles can be repaired with a burner (e.g. with a Brulee Creame burner or flambé device). Then let everything dry for about 24 hours.

Once everything is dry, spills of resin can be removed with from the Proxxon or a toolGlass engraving. Now you can start with the branding. Draw the words "Honey" and "Milk" with a pencil if necessary. Start by drawing the lines with the branding pencil as soon as it is hot enough. At the end, everything is sanded Sandpaper over again.
