Marbled castings

Instructions No. 3377

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 2 Hours

Discover your creative streak with fascinating marbling techniques! Marbled shapes add a touch of elegance to your home and make excellent decorative eye-catchers. In this step-by-step guide, we'll show you how to create impressive works of art using casting slip and marbling paints. Ready for your DIY-Adventure?

1. Mixing Keraflott

Start your project by mixing Keraflott casting compound with water to form a creamy, lump-free mixture. Stir the mixture thoroughly until there are no more lumps. This uniform consistency is crucial for the perfect result.

2. Pouring and hardening

Carefully pour the finished mixture into your silicone molds. Tap the mold gently on a firm surface to remove air bubbles and distribute the mixture evenly. Give the molds 1 to 4 hours to harden, depending on the size of the mold.

3. Remove the molds

As soon as the castings have hardened, you can remove them from the molds. Leave them to dry completely in the air to achieve optimum strength. Rough edges? No problem - simply smooth them with sandpaper.

4. Prepare the marbling bath
Before you start marbling, protect your work area with old newspapers. This will prevent annoying paint splashes and water stains on your table.

Use an old container, such as an unused bucket or bowl, that is large enough to dip the casts into. Fill it with cold tap water. Remember that any paint residue cannot be removed from the container.
Protect your hands from paint splashes with disposable gloves.

4. Marbling
Shake the paint well and add a few drops to the surface of the water. You can now use a bamboo skewer to draw a pattern in the colors. Be careful not to use too many colors.

Dip the pellets into the floating colors and pull them out again immediately. The paint will settle on the surface of the castings and the typical, unique color patterns will be created. Allow the objects to dry thoroughly.

8. Remove paint residue
To remove paint residue from the surface of the water, simply drag a piece of Paper through the water. This creates space for the next pattern, which you can design with new drops of paint.

With a little patience and creativity, you can create spectacular works of art in this way. Here and in our online store, you will not only find only paint but also many molds for castings and finished objects for marbling. Get started today and let your imagination run wild!
