Soap pralines

Instructions No. 2300

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 1 hour

These pralines look delicious! They are not for eating, but for washing your hands, because the little chocolates are made of soap. Arranged on a decorative glass plate, they make a great eye-catcher for the bathroom. The pralines can also be given as a gift.

Make soap pralines:

1. Mix the soap flakes, oil, shea butter, fragrance and colour according to the instructions on the packaging.

2. Form the resulting mixture into pralines and cut out a few stars.

3. Colour the bath salts with soap colouring and use to decorate the pralines.

Make a soap dish:

1. Paint the terracotta pot with stone-grey craft paint and leave to dry.

2. Place the pot with the opening facing downwards and fix the glass plate on top with craft glue.

3. As soon as the glue has dried, you can decorate the plate as you like: for example, lay out a lace paper, spread the soap pralines and, if you like, some glass balls that look like soap bubbles.
