Tiles with Alcohol Ink

Instructions No. 1950

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 45 Minutes

Alcohol Ink is a novel Ink alcohol-based ink. The inks are particularly inspiring due to their high luminosity. With a so-called Alcohol Extender the colours can be thinned and can thus flow wonderfully into each other. The resulting effects are reminiscent of watercolor painting. In this tutorial we show you two different ideas how to apply Alcohol Ink on tiles.

With these colourful, glossy tiles, the colours Zitron, Magenta and Red orange worked, in places the Alcohol Extender was applied to create beautiful transitions. With Diamond sparkling accents can still be set. The saying "Do more of what makes you sparkle" was Marker written on the tile. Tip: Instead of writing it freehand, you can use a pencil to dictate the saying first, or you can print out a template of your choice from the Internet and transfer it using graphite paper.

These matt tiles are intended to pick up the underwater theme. For this reason, the colours apple and Caribbean is used. Again, the Alcohol Extender was used to create fascinating gradients. On the right tile were made with Metallic Gold still set accents. This Sea shell was done using a Stencil upset. To do this, trace the lines with a blue Markerone and colour the inside with white. The saying "Under the sea" was also applied with a Marker written.
